

STRETCH AND CHALLENGE

CHRISTMAS ACTIVITIES

GEOGRAPHY

WEBSITES

What 3 Words

The world's coolest address book!

Explore every place on the planet through its unique three-word replacement for traditional zip codes, and latitude and longitude.

The ultimate family-friendly treasure hunt, which improves spatial awareness and navigation skills. Plus you'll discover places you never knew existed, right on your doorstep.

Geocaching

Flight Radar

Relatives and friends flying in for Christmas? Track their flight in real-time and learn a thing or two about global Geography at the same time!

Does Twitter have a Geography? Of course it does! A fascinating live map of tweets around the world is just waiting to be explored!

Tweet Map

Christmas Waste

If you are feeling a bit guilty about all that Christmas consumption, this may not help.....

PLACES TO GO

A brilliant wet-weather day out in Edinburgh. Dynamic earth has everything you would ever wish to know about rocks and landscapes.

Dynamic Earth

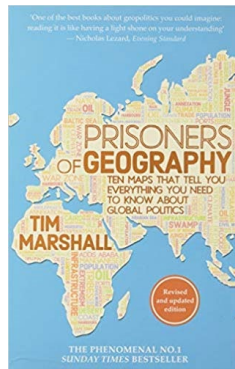

Blow some of those cobwebs out of your ears, and burn off some Christmas pud by walking a stretch of Hadrian's Wall from Steel Rigg. You'll be on top of the Whin Sill dolerite intrusion, with stunning views across Northumberland's landscape.

The Whin Sill

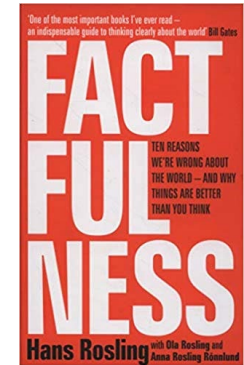

BOOKS TO READ

Prisoners of Geography

A highly readable tour of global Geography and geopolitics, by journalist Tim Marshall, that helps understand the way the world works, based around 10 maps.

The ultimate antidote to feeling a little down about things over Christmas. Hans Rosling argues that we should be much more positive about the world than we generally are!

Factfulness